

Lifesavers galore at carnival

MORE than 600 young lifesavers from around Victoria swelled the Inverloch surf beach to bursting point on Sunday, for a major competition.

The Life Saving Victoria Junior Carnival drew strong entries from Inverloch, Venus Bay, Waratah Beach, Wonthaggi and Woolamai surf lifesaving clubs, as well as from clubs across Melbourne, the Mornington Peninsula and Geelong region.

Boys and girls braved the heat and strong currents to compete in flag racing, sprints, board rescue and medley relays.

Life Saving Victoria's youth and leadership manager Kate Comer praised the superb organisation of host club, Inverloch.

Active bunch: Venus Bay nippers Jessica McGaw, Carla Moran, Paris Blackman, Leah Margetts and Ruby McGregor.
